

HEIR TO MILLIONS HAS WED HIS MOTHER'S MAID

Society Shocked by Marriage of John Alston Moorhead and Young Woman Who Was Summarily Discharged.

John Alston Moorhead, son of John Moorhead, Jr., and grandson of John Moorhead, who, during his life, was one of Pittsburgh's steel magnates, is on Long Island, near this city, today with his wife, who, until the wedding, was his mother's French maid. The marriage of young Moorhead and the maid occurred one week ago, and dispatches from Pittsburgh say that society in that city has not been so much excited since Harry Thaw married Evelyn Nesbit, the chorus girl. Friends of the Moorheads have been informed that he will be disinherited, which will mean the loss of a great fortune, for the head of the family is many times a millionaire. According to those who are close to the family, a stormy scene preceded the departure of the French maid. Mrs. Moorhead spent several months on the Continent last year and on her return home in the autumn she brought over with her the pretty little French girl, whose family name appears to have been lost somewhere in transit. She was known here only as Frances, but Mrs. Moorhead has a vague idea that her last name may have been Vorce. The attachment became so painfully manifest about ten days ago that Mr. and Mrs. Moorhead summoned the young man into their presence and informed him that he must immediately cease his attentions to the family servant. To their utter amazement he not only refused point-blank to obey, but declared his intention to make her his wife. That brought down such a storm that the boy threatened to quit the parental roof on the instant. Thereupon his father informed him that he was no maid or no Moorhead millions. Then the French maid was summoned, and Mrs. Moorhead dismissed her. She told the girl she must leave the house at once, and that her passage would be paid back to France. The maid tearfully prepared to obey, and the son announced that if she left he would go with her. She left for New York last Sunday, and a few hours later the young man was on his way to this city to join her. He was told that he need not expect any further communication with the house of Moorhead. Friends of the family have been informed that after the marriage in New York, young Moorhead and his bride went to the home of Horace Moorhead, the young man's uncle, on Long Island.

The materials of most of them could not be bought for that price. When we made the deal, the silks were in the piece. We selected our own styles, and had the suits and dresses cut and trimmed just as we wished them. There are over thirty-five distinct styles in the collection, a very large number being made in the Fritz Scheff style, and many copied from pretty little dresses sent over to us by Paquin, from Paris, during the present year. There are dainty Princess dresses, such as are being sold elsewhere in New York City at $25 to $35.

The Shirt-Waist Dresses are variously made of checked taffeta silk, in black-and-white, blue-and-white, brown-and-white and red-and-black. Also in plain shades of navy blue, black, Alice blue, rose, reseda, light blue, tan, white and red; and many more in changeable shades. There are Louise silk in black-and-white checks, as well as plain shades. Also a few China silk dresses. All sizes from 32 to 44.

The picture—sketched right from the dresses—illustrates several charming styles. No dressmaker would make them up for that price.

SIEGEL & COOPER

SIXTH AVE. 16th & 19th STS. J.B. GREENHUT, PRES. NEW YORK

The New Kind of Bargain Day!

IN these Tuesday lists The Big Store has given the public a new and better kind of "bargain day."

The Siegel Cooper Store, with its steadily expanding power and usefulness, its new methods, its straight-to-the-public policy, has nothing in common with the old-fashioned bargain day.

That old-fashioned system consists in a weekly clearing out of goods that won't sell at regular prices. That very fact weakens the bargain. Moreover they are used merely to attract an attendance and thereby sell regular priced goods, and to that end the privilege of ordering by mail or telephone is usually cut off.

The new kind—the Siegel Cooper kind—of bargain day, offers the very choicest and most wanted goods of the season often for no more than half their prices on other days; offers the same privileges as to mail and C. O. D. orders as on other days, guarantees the exact truth of every statement of value and limits purchases only when found absolutely necessary for the protection of customers.

Here's the weekly example:

HE CHOSE TO DIE - IN PATH OF TROLLEY

Unidentified Man Commits
Suicide by Facing a Fast-
Moving Car.

An unidentified man about sixty years old was struck by a north-bound Jerome avenue car at about 500 feet north of Two Hundred and Thirty-seventh street and instantly killed early today. The man had been walking the track when the car bore down upon him, and it is said he wanted to die.

The body was that of a man about five feet ten inches tall, gray hair, mustache and eyes, dressed in a black cut-away suit, white shirt, black and white striped trousers, turned down collar, black tie and black lace shoes. Nothing by which he could be identified was found upon the body.

According to the motorman, the man stood upon the track, facing the car, and refused to get off the track, although he had plenty of time and warning to do so.

The motorman caught sight of him when sixty feet from him. He alleged that he had rung his gong and the man turned and faced the car.

The motorman declared that the man stood facing the car. When too late, the motorman says, he saw that the man wished to be killed. The motorman put on his brake, but the car struck the man and cast him thirty feet.

STABBED IN CITY HALL PARK.

Seems for help attracted Detective William Burger in City Hall Park at midnight, and an instant later he saw several men and women run towards the Brooklyn Bridge entrance. The woman who screamed said she was Jennie Lyons, a landlady, of No. 63 Fort Greene place, Brooklyn.

Blood was flowing freely from a wound near the elbow of the left arm. She said that some unknown person had stabbed her. An ambulance from Hudson Street Hospital was summoned. "I'll get even with that kid for sure," she said to a clerk in a nearby drug store who stopped the flow of blood. Wallace Ferguson, of No. 33 Mauger street, Brooklyn, declared he saw the girl stab herself. When searched there was no knife found on her. The wounded girl, who is twenty-two years old, was taken to the hospital and Ferguson was taken to the City Hall Police Station as a witness.
